High Praise For Civil Defense

Volunteer Workers Hailed At Service Dedicated To Their Efforts

All branches of Civilian Defense and other local war time agencies were represented in the congregation of more than 300 at the Congregational Church on Sunday when the Rev. Frederic Groetsma dedicated his sermon, "They Also Serve," to Civilian Defense volunteers.

"We are charged with the custody of peace in a world at war," said Mr. Groetsma, "the schools, the arts, the sciences, research, learning, the web and fabric of civilization are in our keeping. All these suffer from the frontal assault any war makes upon them and these are of no concern of the military. Only the civilian population can stand that assault, digging in at the handiest places and resolving 'so far and no farther'."

"We have learned that one of the best things for morale in any crisis is something to do, so it is with a real sense of gratitude that we all here today salute the Civilian Defense program. It was a Godsend to this nation... it will prove to be of greater worth for it helped us all to ride out the punch at the time when we were stunned."

"In the days and months and possible years which are ahead, the more people who can be trained to have something definite to do, to occupy mind and body with jobs so well learned as to be almost second nature, will mean, when our own testing time comes, lives saved, and the war effort aided. To the local men and women who have thus far given of themselves and their time and talents in the leadership of the civilian defense program, and in other ways helped put idle hands to work, given constructive thoughtful tasks to us all, and thus helped us gain a measure of personal security in this hour of trial, we are truly grateful as a community. They have helped us feel and know that we each are important: WE ALSO SERVE."

Zoning Variance Is Denied City Clerk

Taking the position that the multiple dwelling districts in Sierra Madre should not be increased, the city planning commission on Thursday evening refused to grant a zone variance to Waverly E. Pratt.

Mr. Pratt had applied for the variance so that a kitchen could be added to the second story of his home at 359 Grove street, making it a two-family dwelling. Action of the planning commission will be considered final unless an appeal is filed with the city council.

Citizens Asked To Save Cars And Tires

A resolution was adopted by the city council Tuesday asking Sierra Madreans to conserve automotive equipment, thorough observance of the maximum speed limit, curtailment of unnecessary driving, sharing transportation whenever possible with friends, neighbors and fellow employees on a reciprocal basis, to provide voluntary periodical inspection of automobile mechanism and tires to insure maximum life of each.

SIERRA MADRE STANDS OUT FRONT IN VICTORY BOOK CAMPAIGN; MORE ARE NEEDED

By Perley Poore Sheehan
Books and magazines contributed by citizens of Sierra Madre in the Victory Book Campaign—to supply America's armed forces and war-workers with reading matter—are already at the ten thousand fronts or on their way, according to the latest report received by Miss Lulu Moore, city librarian, head of the local committee.

The report includes the announcement that no community of this size has made a larger contribution—few, in fact, have made as large. This is true to such an extent that the committee has been forced to abandon its plan of sending an individual card of thanks to each contributor and has asked the SIERRA MADRE NEWS to make this general announcement of the committee's appreciation to all its donors.

At the same time, the committee wishes it to be known that good books—to be sent to our growing armies at home and overseas—will still be received and forwarded with appreciation undiminished.

Auxiliary Police Unit Completed As Seven Appointed

On the request of Police Chief Gordon McMillan, the city council on Tuesday evening confirmed the appointment of seven men as special police officers: Fred Foote, Benjamin Gossweiler, Sidney L. Jewell, Lea F. McCarty, Eddie Robertson, Wm. Seymour, Sr., and Dan D. Strite.

These men in addition to five previously appointed will comprise the first unit of the auxiliary police force.

City May Be Center For Evacuees

County Defense Council Counts On Housing For 1167 If Jap Raid Comes

Possibility that Sierra Madre may be used as a civilian evacuation center in the event of a Japanese raid on the coast, was foreseen this week as the housing sub-committee of the Los Angeles County Defense Council in an official communication to the city stated that Sierra Madre's quota of evacuees had been set at 1167.

A thorough survey of the city last autumn revealed that 1060 people could be given emergency housing in private homes, while the additional quota for Sierra Madre could easily be sheltered in public buildings.

The communication stated that it may become necessary in the future to evacuate many thousands of civilians from the principal industrial and defense areas which contain military objectives.

Womans Club Will Celebrate Its 35th Anniversary

A musical tea has been planned for the gala and festive 35th anniversary celebration of the Sierra Madre Woman's Club on Wednesday, April 2, with Charlene Stansbury, contralto, featured soloist on the program. She will be accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Temple of Monrovia. Charter members and past presidents of the club will be special guests.

The Sierra Madre Woman's Club has been and is a progressive organization and a civic asset, and has opened its doors and extended hospitality not only to club members but to the community at large since its first meeting in 1907. Since the outbreak of war the club has contributed much work and money to defense activities.

Son Born To Former Kathleen Moote

Rev. and Mrs. Dwight L. Poundstone of Los Angeles are the parents of a seven pound, one ounce son born Tuesday evening, March 14 at St. Luke's Hospital. Mrs. Poundstone, the former Kathleen Moote, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. R. Moote of West Sierra Madre Blvd. The baby who will be christened Donald Moote Poundstone is the second grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Moote.

EVERY MAN AND WOMAN URGED TO ENROLL IMMEDIATELY FOR DEFENSE TRAINING

Be Prepared When Enemy Strikes Warns Head Of State Defense Council

Declaring that "we cannot afford to delay," Kenneth I. Fulton, acting executive director of the State Council of Defense, has issued an appeal for the "immediate enrollment in vital civilian protection work" of every available man and woman in California.

"Every Californian owes it to himself, his family and his community to be prepared to act immediately and effectively when the enemy attacks," he declared.

"Unwarranted delays can only result in staggering loss of life and tremendous property damage, which can be sharply minimized if every citizen is trained and goes immediately to his or her post when the enemy strikes," he stated.

Thousands of volunteers are "urgently needed" in almost every phase of the civilian protection program being conducted by the state and local defense councils throughout California.

The state defense chieftain urged all citizens, who have not already done so, to contact the volunteer office of their local defense unit, enroll in the service for which they are best fitted by reason of education, or trade, and receive the necessary training.

Foremost among the volunteer services for which citizen workers are "needed in almost every community," were cited as follows: ground observation corps of the aircraft warning system, auxiliary firemen and policemen, bomb squads, rescue squads, air raid wardens, fire watchers, emergency food and housing corps, medical workers, nurses aides, demolition and clearance crews, road repair crews, and decontamination squads.

PLAN GREATER LOS ANGELES BY ABSORPTION OF THIS AND MANY OTHER CITIES

A letter practically proposing the annexation to Los Angeles of all the foothill cities from San Fernando to Monrovia (including Sierra Madre, of course), all those south to include Whittier and other cities as far as Long Beach, and beach cities from Long Beach to Santa Monica, was read to the city council at its meeting Tuesday evening. Signed by the Los Angeles city clerk, it was prepared by a committee of the Los Angeles city council. It proposed creation of a joint commission representing all the cities affected to devise a method of unified government to be submitted later to the California legislature.

The letter suggested a meeting at a later date, that was not mentioned, of the mayors of the affected cities to consider the plan.

The same mail that brought the Los Angeles letter brought another from the Beverly Hills city council announcing its unqualified opposition to the proposal. Neither letter asked any action at this time by the Sierra Madre council and none was taken.

War Veterans Post Elects Officers

Following a V.F.W. dinner at the Sierra Madre Hotel Monday evening members of the organization elected Roy Davis to fill the post of Commander, succeeding Pat West. Other officers elected were Francis Eskman, first vice commander; Ralph Koon, second vice commander; Dr. W. B. Heagerty, chaplain; Harry Holland, adjutant and quartermaster, and Capt. E. G. Everett, trustee.

Formal installation will take place Tuesday evening, April 27.

Scenic Property To Be Sold For Taxes

Three lots located at the top of Vista Circle Drive overlooking Seira Madre will be offered for sale May 1 in the office of the county tax collector, third floor Hall of Justice, Los Angeles. The property which was owned by the late Adolph Tandler is being sold to satisfy tax claims and will be auctioned to the highest bidder. The sale will continue from day to day following May 1. Full description of this property, which is among the most scenic in the city, will be found elsewhere in the NEWS.

Salvage Campaign Is Undertaken By School Children

In line with the national "Salvage for Victory" campaign, pupils of Arthur Elliott's 8th grade at the grammar school are launching a salvage drive, beginning Monday and continuing two weeks.

This project, being carried on with the backing of the Sierra Madre Defense Council, was planned by Nathan Tarr and Louie Williams, who struck upon the salvage program as one of the most helpful contributions which children can make to the war effort.

Speaking of the campaign, Mayor W. J. Schiltz, chairman of local Defense Council said, "I earnestly urge all townspeople to cooperate with Sierra Madre grammar school students by contributing scrap iron, copper, brass, aluminum, lead, or old rubber. Residents may take articles to the school playground where a salvage yard will be set up, or if unable to do so, may call the school and have their contributions picked up."

Proceeds from the campaign will go to local charities, and children bringing in the largest quantity of scrap material will be rewarded, among other things, with a special moving picture show.

Basil Rathbone To Greet Townsfolk Next Thursday

Thursday, April 23, has been chosen as the time when Basil Rathbone, British actor and president of the British War Relief Society of Southern California, will pay his first official visit to the Sierra Madre Chapter B.W.R.

Mr. Rathbone, and Mr. and Mrs. Ian McDonald will be luncheon guests at the British Old Peoples Home, and in the early afternoon will go to the Woman's clubhouse to inspect work of local women who have been sewing for Britain who have been shorn of their possessions by enemy bombings.

All residents of the community are invited to meet Mr. Rathbone at a silver tea which will be served at 2:30 in the Osgood Room of the clubhouse.

Sierra Madrean Takes Shot At A Jap Plane In Pacific

Kenneth Allen of the U.S. Navy was home this week following a recent eventful cruise to an undisclosed destination. Twenty hours out from San Francisco the ship on which Allen was stationed was fired on by an enemy submarine and the torpedo, which was not sighted by the crew until it was about 30 feet away, narrowly missed the ship's stern.

Allen was credited with one-third of a Japanese bomber shot down by three gun crews aboard ship. He arrived here Tuesday from San Francisco to spend a 48-hour leave with his mother, Mrs. Marion Hays. Mrs. Allen is in Casco, Wis., visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Sisel.

Issue Appeal For Guard Enlistments

"Enemy Attack May Be Expected At Any Time," Says Col. Hastie

A stirring appeal for the immediate recruiting of the full-time active forces of the California State Guard to the maximum strength has been sent to all unit commanders in Southern California by Col. Jack Hastie, Jr., Area Commander.

Military men point out that every man in the regular army is desperately needed for combat warfare, and that every State guardsman on active duty relieves the situation overseas where reinforcements are so much needed.

"No time is to be lost," advises Colonel Hastie. "In this emergency when American soldiers overseas are being slaughtered by an enemy who has no compunctions and who feels no compassion, it is time we in the California coastal area must forget personal preferences and to begin now to make further personal sacrifices—if America is to win this war."

Men who enlist for active duty at this time, according to the communication from Area headquarters "will be studied and classified at once for use as officer and noncommissioned officer material."

A warning that the emergency is at hand is given by Colonel Hastie in these words: "No community in California should hold back. Enemy forces may be expected on California soil at any time. They have already been within a few feet of our shores and have observed our defenses and vital points from the air. We may depend upon it that they will strike with force, with all the stealth at their command at a time when we least expect them."

Mountain Areas In This District Are Closed To Public

Among the first closures effected in the Angeles Forest are two in this district. All of the area surrounding the Big Santa Anita dam to a distance of 500 feet above the high water mark is now closed territory. All of Monrovia Canyon is closed and a thousand feet north and south of the San Gabriel river from Bear Canyon to Short Cut Canyon where the U. S. Forest Service Guard station is located. No one may enter this area except with written permits which are issued only for official business.

Schwartz, McGill, Hoegge Sweep City In Contest For City Council

Mayor Will Be Elected At New Organization Meeting Held Tuesday

Two incumbent city councilmen, Thomas M. Schwartz and Robert Bruce McGill, and Vinton A. Hoegge, who ran with them were elected by overwhelming majorities at Tuesday's municipal election, defeating John L. Fitzgerald and Al S. Myers.

Slightly more than a third of the city's 2,731 registered voters went to the polls. Light showers that fell almost continuously during the early morning and until after noon kept the vote down. Though the polling places were opened at 6 o'clock no voters appeared at two of them until two hours later. Most of the ballots were cast between 2 and 7 o'clock.

In all 1152 persons voted, quite a number of ballots being marked for only one or two candidates. There were only 33 votes between the highest and lowest of the successful candidates, Schwartz leading with 941 and Hoegge being third with 908. McGill in second place, received 927 votes. Fitzgerald had 280 and Myers 217. Six voters wrote in the name of Councilman Miller, who was not a candidate. All the election boards had completed counting the ballots within an hour after the polls closed.

At next Tuesday's council meeting the vote cast Tuesday will be officially canvassed and Hoegge, the new member, will take the oath of office, after which the council will organize for the next two years by the election of a mayor. Members of the council say there has been no discussion as yet of any plan to change mayors at this time. The term of Mayor Schiltz as a councilman continues for two years, as does that of Councilman John Froehlich.

The vote cast Tuesday for the five contenders in the consolidated first and third precincts, voting at the city hall, was: Schwartz 229, McGill 218, Hoegge 212, Fitzgerald 71, Myers 58.

At consolidated precincts 2, 4 and 9, voting at the park house, the vote was: Schwartz 308, McGill 300, Hoegge, 276, Fitzgerald 103, Myers 90, Webster Vandier 1.

McGill led at the polling place in the Masonic Temple, receiving 203 votes to 201 for Hoegge, 189 for Schwartz, 64 for Fitzgerald, 45 for Myers and 4 for Thomas Miller.

Hoegge was tops in consolidated precincts 6 and 7, voting at 102 East Mira Monte avenue, receiving 219 votes. Schwartz 215, McGill 213, Fitzgerald 12, Myers 24 and Thomas Miller 2.

City Gets Showers; Summer Comes Back

Light showers which began Friday and continued until Tuesday noon brought 1.03 inches of rain to the city, raising the rainfall for this year to 13.65 inches—23.25 inches below that at the same time last year. Temperatures have been moderate and for the week have been:

"DEFENSE WORKERS WON BATTLE OF BRITAIN," SAYS OCD CHIEF SHOWING DANGER AHEAD

Declaring that "the 250,000 civilian defense workers in London really won the Battle of Britain," Harold W. Kennedy, executive director of the Los Angeles County OCD, spoke to Sierra Madre Air Raid Wardens, first aid squads, volunteer nurses, auxiliary police and firemen and State Guardsmen at the Sierra Madre Grammar School, Monday evening. A large number of residents as yet not connected with the local Civilian Defense also attended.

Illustrating the danger of fire sabotage in Southern California, Mr. Kennedy stated that during one raid on England, 2500 fires were started in London, where construction is largely of stone. He indicated that a raid of similar proportions in this part of the California where wood construction predominates, would devastate great areas. Forest sabotage and resultant "flash floods" were also catalogued among the most critical dangers faced by the Los Angeles area,

Hinshaw Here Discusses Defense

Spends Two Hours Answering Questions Of Sierra Madre Constituents

Slipping away from two Congressional committees with which he came to California on an investigating tour, Congressman Carl Hinshaw visited with his Sierra Madre constituents for two hours Saturday morning. Introduced at an informal meeting at the city hall by L. R. Goshorn, publisher of the NEWS, the Congressman answered many questions, told of preparations being made at the capital for carrying on the war, and discussed the defense and labor questions at considerable length. Every conceivable effort is being made, he said, to make the Japanese invasion. To this end there are patrols far over the sea from Dutch Harbor, to Alaska and Panama and there can be no invasion without first a great naval battle and then, if necessary, resistance by land forces that would make invasion just about impossible. But he warned of the necessity for civilian defense, declaring every citizen should be a member of some branch or other of the defense program.

Because of strikes and lockouts the labor situation was so bad that 1,900,000 man hours were lost in plants working on war materials last August. The situation was so alarming that four days before the attack on Pearl Harbor the House passed the Smith bill designed to correct labor conditions. Immediately after the attack the labor situation began to improve markedly and the Senate has continued to measure ever since. Now, he said, capital and labor are working magnificently to speed up production. "And," he added, "my hat is off to them for the splendid results we are getting."

Ward To Serve On School Board

Sierra Madre's school board election scheduled for May 15, will find only one name on the ballot, as Edwin W. Ward, incumbent chairman, was the only Sierra Madrean whose nomination papers had been filed yesterday when the filing period closed. The election will be held May 15. Earlier in the month Mr. Ward stated that he would not run for reelection. However he consented to serve again upon receipt of numerous letters from Sierra Madre citizens, the Kiwanis Club and the teaching staff of the grammar school, urging him to file for reelection.

The letter from the school teachers said: "We believe that your experience and understanding are invaluable. We sincerely hope you will again consent to serve us 'on our school board.'" The letter also expressed the appreciation of the teachers to Mr. Ward for his "many years of fine service to our school and community."

Funeral Services Held For Daniel Shaffer, Aged 91

Daniel Shaffer, resident of Sierra Madre for the last 22 years and former deacon of the Congregational Church, passed away April 13. Mr. Shaffer was a native of Cochranton, Pa., where he was born in 1851. For 42 consecutive years he was secretary of the Congregational Sunday School in his home city, and upon coming to Sierra Madre became an active member of the church here.

Funeral services were conducted yesterday afternoon at the Congregational Church with the Rev. Frederic Groetsema and Dr. Arthur O. Pritchard officiating. Dr. M. H. A. Peterson was the soloist. Bearers were Dr. Charles Proudfoot, R. A. Van Ness, N. W. Tarr, R. J. Lord, F. H. Hartman and C. W. Jones. Burial was at Forest Lawn.

Mr. Shaffer is survived by his daughter, Mrs. Albert Wheeling of 101 East Sierra Madre blvd.; two sons, Dr. W. W. Shaffer of San Marino and Frederic Shaffer of Long Beach; a granddaughter, Mrs. Philip Weston Senour; two grandsons, Dr. Robert Shaffer of San Francisco and William N. Shaffer of San Marino; on great grandson, John Nesbit Shaffer of San Francisco; a sister, Mrs. Eva McCracken, and two brothers, Wm. Shaffer and Henry Shaffer, all of Cochranton, Penna.

Ohioans Arrive To Make Home Here

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bohren arrived here from Cincinnati late last week to make their home on property owned by Mrs. Bohren at 185 North Mt. Tran avenue. They were married at Albuquerque en route here. Both had given up their positions in the Ohio city where Mrs. Bohren had for eight years been manager of the classified advertising department of the Cincinnati Enquirer. She had previously held a similar position on the Indianapolis News for many years. Mr. Bohren, now retired, spent most of his life in the mechanical department of Cincinnati newspapers.

Mrs. Bohren will be remembered as Louie Abbott who for two years was a member of the advertising staff of the Sierra Madre News, coming here from Indianapolis with her mother who was ill and later died here.

One Man To Handle Defense Materials Issued By City

Joining with other California cities in adopting a resolution appointing a local property officer who would be in charge of all protective civilian equipment which may be issued, the city council Tuesday evening named Wm. Schwartz to the post, and authorized a bond of $5000 to cover his work in this capacity. Another letter from Officer James Heasley asking that some action be taken to relieve him of the Canyon swimming pool lease was referred to the committee of the whole.

DANCE TREAT FRIDAY AT WOMAN'S CLUB

Sierra Madreans who have been journeying out of town weekly to dance to the music of Don's Old Time Band are promised an evening of exceptional entertainment Friday when this popular dance group comes to the Woman's Clubhouse. The affair which will feature modern as well as old time dancing is being sponsored by the Sierra Madre Woman's Club, and a cordial invitation has been extended by the club to all townspeople.

PARENTS WANTED AT CUB SCOUT MEETING

Dens 1, 2, 3 and 4 of the Cub Scouts will hold their first pack meeting at 7:30 Friday night in the grammar school cafeteria. Parents of Scouts are given a special invitation to attend the meeting. The group is sponsored by the Parent-Teachers Association.

Sierra Madre Boys Place Third In Grammar School Athletic Meet

The track meet held at La Canada, with grammar schools from Sierra Madre, Newhall, Saugus, La Canada and Southwestern participating, found Sierra Madre placing third, and several local boys making high scores.

La Canada's school placed first with 89 points, Newhall, second with 66 1/2 points and Sierra Madre third, with 41 points. Scoring for Sierra Madre were Augustine Rillorta, who made 12 1/2 points, placing first in the senior 75-yard dash, first in the hop skip and jump, and second in the high jump; David Osti who scored second in the midget broad jump, third in the midget hop skip and jump, and third in the midget 50 yard dash; Bob Cass, who scored second in the senior 60 yard dash; Loren Heasley who came in third in the junior 50 yard dash; Fred Osti who placed fourth in the junior broad jump; Walter Richter, placing third in the intermediate hop skip and jump; Bill Bowers getting third in the junior high jump; Gerald Perry, third in the midget high jump; Mike Castaneda, third in the senior broad jump; Donald Crabtree, Charles Casady, Nathan Tarr and Gilbert Martinez, all of whom scored in relay races.

Sierra Madre seniors scored second in the 200 yard, 4-man relay with Rillorta, Cass, Martinez and Tarr, participating, and first in the junior 200 yard relay which was run by David Osti, Fred Osti, Crabtree and Heasley.

War Veterans Post Elects Officers

The election of officers for next year was held at the Junior Woman's Club meeting last Thursday. The new officers are: Gleam Drury, president; Arleen Olsen, vice-president; Gloria Swanson, recording secretary; Althea Butler, corresponding secretary, and Dorothy Hawks, treasurer. Wilhelmina Best was chosen as advisor for a second year.

The District convention has been the time set for the completion of projects throughout the year. Finished garments were shown at the meeting by the needlework guild. Gleam Drury, chairman, reports that the club will turn in the 110 garments at the final in-gathering this month. The press book containing the clippings on the club news through the year was presented by Arleen Olsen, press chairman.

The name drawn this week for the blanket club was Mrs. Coates. Refreshments were served by hostesses Sophie Stamer, Louis Stamer and Marian Bernstein.

Property Of Laura Hawthorn To Be Sold

Ben M. Brown, administrator of the estate of the late Laura Hawthorn, is receiving bids for personal property and real estate holdings which will be disposed of at a private sale on or after April 20 at his office, 137 North Broadway, Los Angeles.

Property to be sold includes the lot and frame house at 52 West Sierra Madre blvd., and the office occupied by Dr. John L. Woehler at 39 South Baldwin avenue. People interested in the sale should submit written bids to Mr. Brown at his Los Angeles address. Full description of the property to be sold will be found in a public notice on page six.

Good Army Posts Open To Boys 18-19

The War Department has instructed the U.S. Army Recruiting Station at San Bernardino that the recruiting and induction service in the Third Corps Area will be given first priority to enlist men 18 and 19 years old for the months of April, May and June.

The Army now has many opportunities for young men in this age group who are eligible to compete for appointment as navigators, bombardiers and commissioned officers. Therefore there is an excellent chance for men enlisting to be assigned to the service of their choice, including the Air Corps.

Applicants for enlistment must have a good record, be physically fit and have the written notarized consent of parents or guardian. Complete information may be obtained from Sgt. William J. Mairs, 215 Federal Building, San Bernardino.

IMPERSONATOR WINS

Don Miller, clever young Sierra Madrean whose comedy impersonations have delighted Sierra Madreans on many occasions, won first place on the Vega air-craft show Friday when he presented an original specialty act. Young Miller has been with the mail department of Vega for the last six months. As the award for his appearance Friday, he will receive free meals in the Vega canteen for a week.

EUGENE KEABLES IS CALLED TO COLORS

Word has been received here by Mrs. Alyce Anderson, that her son, Eugene Keables, has been called into the Army and is now serving with the commissary department of a company stationed near Denver. Mr. Keables is a graduate of Pasadena Junior College, and following his marriage became junior member of his father's business in Denver.

Side Glances and Soliloquies

by Libby Trimble

One can almost tell what happened during the school days of a certain sergeant who last week dished out some fairly unique punishment to a Pfc. (private first class) of the U.S. Army. The private, who is in the medical corps, somehow worked up enough nerve to tell the sergeant he was too busy to march. "You'll march," barked the sergeant. "And besides that you'll write me a 100 word essay on 'Why the United States Army Shouldn't March,' and you'll hand it in before you get a pass to leave this place."

Young John Reib, two-year old son of the Dan Reib's, seems destined to be a botanist or memory expert. On a tour of the garden the child can name every flower, vegetable and herb, a feat that cannot be duplicated by his mother and one that puts a slight strain on the mind of his father. A child with a memory like that could cause all sorts of complications if he once got the idea.

Joe Grippi quit pacing floors Friday when his mare, Babe, foaled. It's a cute little colt and quite a roughneck according to Joe.

According to rumor Dr. Jack Miller delved into Carl Sandburg's song bag, Tuesday, and with the aid of a tenor guitar practically rolled them in the aisles at the Kiwanis luncheon meeting at the Wistaria Vine. Also according to rumor he was a trifle peeved to find a woman in the audience... but we won't go into that.

There seems to be a let-down in the rumor department lately. Guess we're getting a little more intelligent or else the manufacturers of such nonsensical ideas are being kept too busy to think them up. Anyway we're thankful for the vacation. The latest fad consists of perfectly lousy jokes with bouquets going to the person who tells the dumbest ones. In case you don't know the game, consider this one... Do you know what the little squirrel said when he ran out of the hazing forest? "Goody, goody."

Frozen Fantasy To Attract Hundreds Of Movie Stars

Greatest number of movie stars ever to attend an ice show premiere will attend the gala opening of the Ice-Capades of 1942 at the Pan-Pacific, Thursday night, April 23, it was predicted today by John H. Harris, president of the Ice-Capades organization.

"I have had requests from every major studio for tickets for their stars," Harris said. "I am certain our premiere will be the biggest thing to hit Hollywood since the war started."

The opening is a 100 percent charity night and will be called "Victory Night," Harris said. Proceeds from all sources of revenue will be tossed into the benefit pot. The Ice-Capades will remain at the Pan-Pacific for a limited run following the April 23 premiere. The frozen fantasy is hailed as the most pretentious ice show ever to come here. The cast is star-studded from start to finish. Heading the long list is lovely Lois Dworshak, the famed "Rhythm Girl," and Belita, the British "Bombshell."

Announcing Restricted Milk Delivery Service

EVERYONE'S JOB— Tires are vital to America's war effort. It's everyone's duty to conserve them. The Office of Defense Transportation in Washington has requested all of us to cooperate with them in restricting home delivery service, in order to conserve tires and motor vehicle equipment.

SAVES 40%— So this week the milk companies listed below start a new schedule of restricted delivery service. This new service will save 40% of the tire mileage now necessary to bring fresh milk to our customers.

ADEQUATE DELIVERIES— As civilians conserve their own supply of tires, the home delivery of milk becomes increasingly important. Our new War-Time Service will provide you with adequate deliveries and will help you conserve your own tires.

YOU CAN COOPERATE— We believe you will not be greatly inconvenienced by this restriction in service. You merely order your extra day's supply at one time. And good home refrigeration will keep your dairy products in perfect condition.

Your route salesman will notify you of your new delivery schedule in ample time for you to adjust your orders. We will greatly appreciate your cooperation to the end that home delivery service may be continued "for the duration."

Too Little --- Too Late

Poor John Dairyman— he made too little effort to conserve his tires. Too late he realized that Uncle Sam meant what he said about a rubber shortage. Old John's customers are disappointed in him, too. They need his milk and service. They think he should have been far-sighted enough to conserve his tires. In these days, it's too bad—to do too little—too late.

Three items found cheaper now than before the war

War has upped the price of food, clothing, house furnishings, but electricity and ice, according to the U.S. Department of Labor report released yesterday.

The department's special bulletin disclosed living costs for 1942 are 113.4 per cent of 1935-39.

Food stepped up to 120.6 per cent; clothing, 118.5 per cent; house furnishings, 115.3 per cent; rent, 108.6 per cent; and electricity, 94.2 per cent.

Counter to the trend, the report showed, fuel, electricity and ice costs in the five prewar years.

Edison electric rates always have been among the lowest in the nation. Since 1931 eight major rate reductions have voluntarily been put into effect by the company.

PUBLIC SCHOOL WEEK

Despite the growing pressure of wartime duties upon the time of all citizens, despite the swing-over of American energy from peacetime functions and enterprises to the urgent business of war, Public School Week will be observed with even greater than normal attention and appreciation this year, from all reports. Civic, labor, industrial and religious organizations are preparing to help educators stress the vital role of the public school in our democratic way of life throughout the nation from April 27 to May 1.

The public schools will never build a bomber or fashion a machine gun; but they are the most potent weapon America has for training youth to lead in building a finer America on the debris of today's sad world carnage. The invention of printing liberated the mind of the common man from the prison of illiteracy. And the free public school has given every man opportunity for the education necessary to intelligent self-government.

When the depression was at its blackest, and forced economies were effecting curtailment of many public services, California permitted no lowering of standards in the public schools. Even more necessary today are the best possible schools to bulwark the faith and ethics of our democracy against unknown storms of the future.

THE TIME IS NOW

Not in 1200 years—not since Charles Martel stopped the Moslem conquest of the young Christian world at the Battle of Tours, has the world faced a battle so critical to mankind as the Battle of the World that looms as the summer of 1942 nears.

Military conviction grows in Washington, London and Moscow that the democracies dare not wait until 1943 to risk all in a gigantic offensive. For the Nazis and Japs dare not permit the arming of United Nations to develop their full strength—they must force the issue this summer.

The U. S. Chief of Staff flies to England with key men of all fighting branches—in England a great and growing American Army is in training—and the battlefields where Americans conquered Germans before lie across the narrow channel.

A titanic conflict such as the world has never imagined seems close upon all men. In the first World War battles were battles of localities—the Marne, Argonne, Ypres. In this war mammoth battles for whole nations burst upon us—Battle of France, Battle of England, Battle of Russia. Then battles for whole oceans—Battle of the Atlantic, of the Pacific. Then battles for continents—the beginning Battle of Australia. Now before us lies the Battle of the World!—fought simultaneously by tens and scores of millions of men of all nations on every continent and on every sea. Europe and Asia shall shake under such thunder of guns and be wet with such a drenching of blood that all previous wars will be dwarfed in magnitude of horror and destruction.

The outcome of the Battle of the World will determine the course of human life for centuries to come. Before this year of 1942 is out, our generation seems destined to witness the most dramatic and stupendous drama played upon the stage of history since recorded time began.

SLAVERY IN 1942

Not since ancient times when warring tribes uprooted their vanquished opponents and carried them off into captivity, has Europe witnessed the organized slavery which is now being carried out on a grand scale.

The "New Order" makes no apologies for this state of affairs. The removal of hundreds of thousands of persons—mostly those too young or too old to fight—from their homelands, the breaking up of families, the establishment of forced labor, are part of the permanent scheme of things as Nazism sees it. Since all other races or nations are regarded as inferior in rank, peopled by creatures with no more claim to respect or justice than cattle, it is but logical to find the Hitler hierarchy exploiting non-German Europe with cold-blooded thoroughness.

Today in Germany there are 1,100,000 Poles and 250,000 Belgians serving what uses their Nazi masters have put them to. Hitler's dupe, Mussolini, has delivered up 300,000 Italian men and women into German hands, for the near future. The Berlin radio is now boasting that no fewer than four million non-Germans will soon be toiling in German fields and factories under their Prussian task masters.

This system bears a certain resemblance to that found in the insect world by which ants establish colonies of aphids to produce food for the ants—except that the ant deserves a warmer comparison and is a stranger to the conscious, deliberate inhumanity which the Axis order extols.

Slavery in Europe in 1942 is no figure of speech, but a fact. Until the slaveholders' power is crushed, in Europe and Asia, the menace to the free nations remains. We can neither trade, nor live, with a world half slave. This the champions of the "New Order" admit. They agree the world must be fashioned after their pattern or ours. We have accepted their challenge and will fight until victory is ours.

UNCENSORED

By LEONE BAXTER

Let any man show the World that he feels Afraid of its bark and 't will fly at his heels—
Let him fearlessly face it, 't will leave him alone—
And 't will fawn at his feet if he flings it a bone.

Lyttton's 100-year old philosophy of the fearless man who knows enough about The World not to let it frighten him out of countenance, is the exact philosophy that modern men in a battling world should adopt in reference to the war-misiles they may find it necessary to face. They should learn enough about the weapons of a murder-mad attacker, the experts advise us, so that they are never too frightened to protect themselves.

Any normal man—to say nothing of his wife or daughter—is scared of bombs and shells, of gas and flame thrown at him by a bloodthirsty enemy. General MacArthur, who knows something about courage, says, "No soldier ever was born but is terrified either of bombing or shelling."

But he adds—just as the poet says:
"The test of a real soldier, though, is one who'll cling to his foxhole or trench and shiver and shake during the shelling, but who'll stick there without yielding to his natural impulse to run—and when the enemy attacks will jump to his rifle or machine-gun and fire."

If bombs should fall on our Pacific Coast, if incendiaries and gas should suddenly rain from the sky, running would scarcely insure safety. The question is not of cowardice or fear. Everybody would be frightened, of course. But those civilians who have studied some phases of protective work, the men and women and children who have learned that incendiaries can be extinguished and that gas can be dealt with, too, would not be as frightened nor as ineffectual as the rest.

If there is a morale to this story it is to reiterate that everybody who lives in a possible theatre of attack owes a direct responsibility, not simply to himself and family, but to his community, to learn his individual possible enemy attack.

There are "defense" courses and classes in every town and in every district of all the cities. And faint-hearted or not, every civilian has a wartime role he must learn to play. It's a little helpful to know, meanwhile, that even heroes like MacArthur know what it means to be frightened.

Food can be kept water-proof and moisture-proof in a new type container developed for use by parachute troops and navy personnel.

The.... Watch Tower

By Perley Poore Sheehan

WHEN we were young we had the privilege of looking on while a coroner's medical examiner went about one of his routine jobs in the old New York Morgue. The subject of his inquiry had been stabbed. So cleverly—with such economy and precision—that we've never forgotten it. Just one small stilet to wound below the breastbone from which there'd come hardly any blood at all. "But you'll see," the examiner said; "the wound will lead straight up to the heart." With his scalpel he proceeded to show us. It was so. "They never miss," he said. "They who?" we asked. "These professionals from Italy," he replied—with a sort of rolicking admiration. And he mentioned three familiar Italian words: Vendetta, Mafia, Camorra. "This fellow," he said, referring to the subject on the slab, "comes from Naples, a Camorra town..." It all came back to us—curiously enough, while we were reading a piece in The Christian Century.

IN the number of that magazine for April 1 this year—you'll find it on file at our Public Library; a piece by a writer who calls himself "Romulus," probably because he generally specializes on Rome and the Vatican. He's a bang-up newspaperman—even if he may be also a preacher—who writes this time about "The Plight of Mussolini." It's a piece we recommend in case you've missed it. Or if you feel the need of a corrective for an over-indulgence in the round-by-round report of the war news these days. Here's the long view, as it might be written by some future and sufficiently endowed historian. With something of Carlyle's gift for showing the drift of world-change by the focus of attention on a single character. As on Frederick the Great. Or the sea-green Robespierre. For Romulus here shows up not only the plight of Mussolini, but the plight of Italy; together with implications undefined but fatefully unmistakable as to the plight as well of all the rest of the so-called Axis.

WHAT the writer calls "demonstrative conformity to fascism," he says no longer exists. And no more ovations for Il Duce, either. Instead, a sullen people, gathered about endless, black-bordered casualty lists—the only believable war-news; posted everywhere throughout Italy, in town and country; seemingly endless because of the government's practice of classing even the prisoners—in Africa, Russia, and elsewhere—under the stark head of "Missing." So that now, says Romulus, even the word "Duce," with all its implied hopeful and respectful implications, has gone out of fashion... replaced by unflattering and often untranslatable epithets, few of which are fit for publication. What he calls the least offensive of these nicknames is Pomodoro, meaning "tomato-paste," vaguely suggestive, he says, of "something messy and commonplace."

MUSSOLINI is aware of all this. He is aware that his portraits have now almost completely disappeared—from both public and private places. About him has settled the black cloud of Italy's aversion, for himself and for this war—the war which now has so engulfed him and passed beyond his control. So that now Mussolini lives sickened, changed, embittered. All his old bombast gone—says Romulus, "as gas escapes from a punctured balloon." Day and night he sits alone, haunted by a dread. To the end that he has provided what he hopes may be a place of refuge when things get still worse. It's in Italian Switzerland, plane; where he has bought several adjoining farms on the shores of Lake Lugano and has had these converted into his own idea of a Hitler's Berchtesgaden—equally defended. The get-away plane, a fast one, is also ready; kept in a secret compartment and serviced for instant use at the great Rome airdrome of Centocelle.

SO MUCH for this piece by Romulus. But, somehow, we just can't believe that Mussolini ever is going to get away. Not for good. We keep thinking of that victim in the old New York Morgue and those three words of the medical examiner: Vendetta, Mafia, Camorra. These live on in Italy. Mussolini didn't destroy them. He merely drove them underground. Or, in another sense, he simply reformed and reorganized them on a grander scale. Ask his enemies—ask his victims. Ask any historian of three World Wars when these three World Wars of the Italian scene first began—to win friends and influence people. Which was—when? Then precisely when Italy again was suffering treason, invasion, and tyranny just and keep it holy.

MARCH OF RIMES

By H. F. NOAKE

U. S. MAIL

It's a far cry from that earlier day when the Pony Express weaved its perilous way toward the western horizon, across hill and dale, delivering safely U. S. Mail. How different now, ah different indeed, your letters go places with breath-taking speed: much quicker by air but cheaper by rail, the world's finest service, U. S. Mail. How simple the process, just walk down the street, 'til you come to a box invitingly neat; deposit your letter, just one or a bale and then leave the rest to the U. S. Mail. The postman bring letters for you to your door, that pack on his back holds a thousand or more; in city, in country, through rain, sleet and gale, he cheerfully carries its wonderful progress since pioneer days; and may our United States Mail.

U. S. Mail. This vast enterprise deserves highest praise for its wonderful progress since pioneer days; and may our United States Mail.

In the aftermath of the American defenders' heroic four-month stand on Bataan, the nation can be proud not only of the valor of the men who fought on against pitiless odds, but also of the wise and humanitarian policy in the Philippines which, in our hour of danger, found Filipino loyalty staunchly on our side.

There was no need for desperate last-minute bargaining for the support people of the Philippines, for the very good reason we had long ago given them something worth fighting for. Their independence had been pledged them; Philipinos could fight as free men, in defense of their homes and their liberty, side by side with an America which respected their right to freedom and have spared few pains in developing their country education, politically, and economically. Bataan, for the time being, has been lost, but for more reasons than one, it is a name of which this nation can be forever proud.

The automotive industry in the last 44 years has built in the United States alone 86,168,702 cars, trucks and buses with a wholesale value of $58,207,700,000. During this period there have been 1,481 different makes of cars built.

Just a century ago, Kirkpatrick MacMillan, a 29-year old Scots blacksmith, pedaled the 40 miles from his home in Dumfriesshire to Glasgow on the world's first bicycle—his own invention. "Daft Pate," his neighbors called him, viewing what they considered a crazy contraption. But today "Daft Pate's" invention is going stronger than ever. As one means of over-riding the rubber shortage which threatens to cripple worker transportation in defense industries, the bicycle is coming in its own. The WPB has strictly curtailed all further sales. One large Southern California aircraft plant has begun distributing to employees the first allotment of 3000 bicycles it has purchased. With no supplies of synthetic rubber available for a year or two at the most, the government, of necessity, must divert all rubber possible to vital needs. Accordingly, the thrifty rubber-saver, the bicycle, invention of a thrifty Scots blacksmith, has been called into service to conserve rubber for the most essential needs.

In 1941, a total of 1,040 persons were killed in motor vehicle-bicycle accidents—half of this aggregate resulting in loss of life of youngsters between the ages of 5 and 14—and 49,000 children and grownups injured. Increased use of bicycles in the United States in 1942 is expected as she is today.

BUT it won't be long now. So it would appear. Those sullen people about the black-bordered lists of the dead and missing are now calling this "the German war"—while they revile the Pomodoro who got them into it and now does nothing to get them out. And the Italians have a genius for revenge. They've never been much in the field, it seems, except when they had some such leader as a Garibaldi—and some such cause. But once their lusty hate is aroused no nation in the world, perhaps, can equal their skill in making an enemy want to run—and in getting to his heart. "They never miss!" We're glad we're not Mussolini. He reminds us too much of that subject in the old New York Morgue. We're glad we're not a German—anywhere!—but especially in Sicily. That's where, five or six hundred years ago, they had a celebration called the Sicilian Vespers. Remember? The Sicilians still remember it—and keep it holy.

Women Pay Tribute To The Memory Of Mrs. W. J. Lawless

A steady rain Friday failed to dampen the spirits of the women who gathered at the Wistaria Vine Gardens to pay tribute to the memory of Mrs. W. J. Lawless, former owner of the Vine, with a memorial program prepared by the Sierra Madre Woman's Club. The program featured harp music by Nancy Cavanaugh Clements, songs by Laura Cadmus Edwards, and talks by Mrs. Waverly E. Pratt, club president, Mrs. John H. Robertson, past president, and Bruce McGill, present owner of the Vine.

Mrs. John Stearns Thayer, President of the County Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Grace Y. Hudson, past president of the Los Angeles district, paid tribute to Mrs. Lawless in letters read to the group by Mrs. Robertson. Mrs. Pratt recited "The Wistaria Lady," a poem written by her in memory of Mrs. Lawless.

Three large baskets of flowers were presented by Mrs. Udell, vice-president of the Esther Forman Garden Club; by Mrs. Elizabeth Turner and Mrs. Adria L. Johnson from the Woman's Club, and by Mrs. R. W. Solomon from the Sierra Madre Garden Club.

Many Relatives And Friends See Girls Become Scouts

A large group of parents and friends attended the Girl Scout investiture ceremony held last Wednesday evening in the music room of the grammar school. Seven girls were brought forward by Patricia Sabin to the troop leader, Mrs. Ben Metrick, who welcomed each girl into the sisterhood of Girl Scouting and presented her with a beautiful corsage, a special of the Ward Nursery.

Special guests included Mrs. Stanley Curtiss, East Pasadena District chairman; Mrs. Dan Strite, assistant leader of the Senior Girl Scouts, and Mrs. Samuel Haskins, leader in training. The Damon Nursery presented Mrs. Metrick, Mrs. J. J. Connor, assistant leader, and special guests with beautiful carnations.

The following girls who attended the ceremony gave an interesting program and served refreshments afterward: Patricia Sabin, Phyllis Jean Lentz, Marvel Roberts, Beatrice Metrick, Joyce Ferguson, Lois Wood, Mary Ann Woehler, Barbara Sumner and Lillias Dowding.

As It Appears To me

You may have passed her on the street many times without noticing her, for she isn't prominent either in civic or social affairs. She isn't seen at the gatherings of the "best people," holds only an obscure place in the life of the town, but still in her own way she is one of the town's great women.

Her roots are buried deep in the soil of Croatia, her speech is still tinged with the accent of her people, yet in one short sentence she can recapture the mag-nificance of a sunset or the glory of the Sierra with a natural beauty of expression which is not surpassed by many of the world's great writers. When she has something to say there is no false hesitancy in her manner, and I have heard her speak extemporaneously to more than a hundred modern clubwomen, drive-every point home with concise and vigorous phrasing.

In her memory is a richness of living; the garden farm of her parents; the great community fair which began on St. Eli's Day, when threshers left their work to enjoy four days of buying and general merrymaking; books which filled her very limited leisure time and her decision to read and learn so that she would not become "just a dumb housewife;" then the breaking up of the family group when she insisted on coming to America; a trip to a great city so that she might be properly outfitted; tears streaming down her father's face as he secured her passport, America, with no English words at her command; long hours in libraries spelling out words, learning sentences and eventually reading through biographies of Washington and Lincoln; work in a rubber plant and the slow mastery of spoken words, always learning the names of needed materials then placing a verbal order, over and over until the new language took on shades of familiarity.

Marriage with a Serbian immigrant; 11 children, ten of whom learned to read English with her help; many hardships, particularly during the depression when there was no work in Ohio, and the nearly desperate mother accompanied by nine youngsters set out for California in an old motor car. Always there was just one black cloud which descended when someone asked "Are you an American citizen?" She found it hard to answer after she learned that ownership of property, abiding by the law and paying taxes did not entitle you to citizenship.

Last week this cloud vanished forever when she appeared before the judge to take her final oath, couldn't remember the word "constitution" called it a document and thought "Oh, if you would just ask me how to fix a beef roast." Then the oath of allegiance, the bright sunshine of the courthouse steps, "how I wanted to sing and dance—and no one to celebrate with."

Most of the children are grown, one son working at Vega has had three cartoons accepted by Esquire recently; a daughter is heading for a career in music—and seems likely to arrive; another shows a rare talent for designing; each is finding a definite spot in the American scheme of living and filling it. This family has won through not because of favorable conditions, but in spite of hardships, and because of the undaunted spirit of a mother who refused to be "just a dumb housewife."

So today I salute my woman of the week, Julia Davis of North Mt. Trail avenue, a great personality by any standards of judgment.

SURE FIRE COMEDY IS NEXT AT PLAYHOUSE

Put seven young thespians in a small pan, dip them in grease-paint, bring them to an ambitious boil and you have a comedy riot called "Out of the Frying Pan," which comes to Pasadena Community Playhouse stage from April 21 to May 2 to bring guffaws in gales to Southland audiences.

"One Sunday afternoon," closes its current Playhouse run on Saturday, April 18.

YOUR HOME AND MINE

BY ANNE WILSON

Whether we shall have blackouts is something no one can predict. The best thing is to be ready for them if they do come, and resolve that the lights of home must never be dimmed—that they will shine brighter than ever to make up for the darkness that has engulfed the world.

By covering windows so that no light can be seen through them, you can use ordinary lighting during a blackout and go on with ordinary tasks—a desirable thing for morale. Light gives us bright, cheerful surroundings, as compared to the fear-filled shadows that surround us when our blackout preparations permit the use of only candles or small wattage lamps.

There are various ways to make windows light-proof. If your draperies are the kind that, when closed, cover the window entirely, they may be lined with heavy material to make them serve during a blackout. However, they must be very full, for a six-inch overlap where they meet in the center is necessary to prevent escape of light. They should be snapped to the sides of the window, covered at the top, and should have a twelve-inch extension below the window sill.

Plywood or composition board panels may be made that fit into the windows. These may be covered with wall paper or painted. A roll curtain of painted canvas or other opaque material is another way to blackout windows.

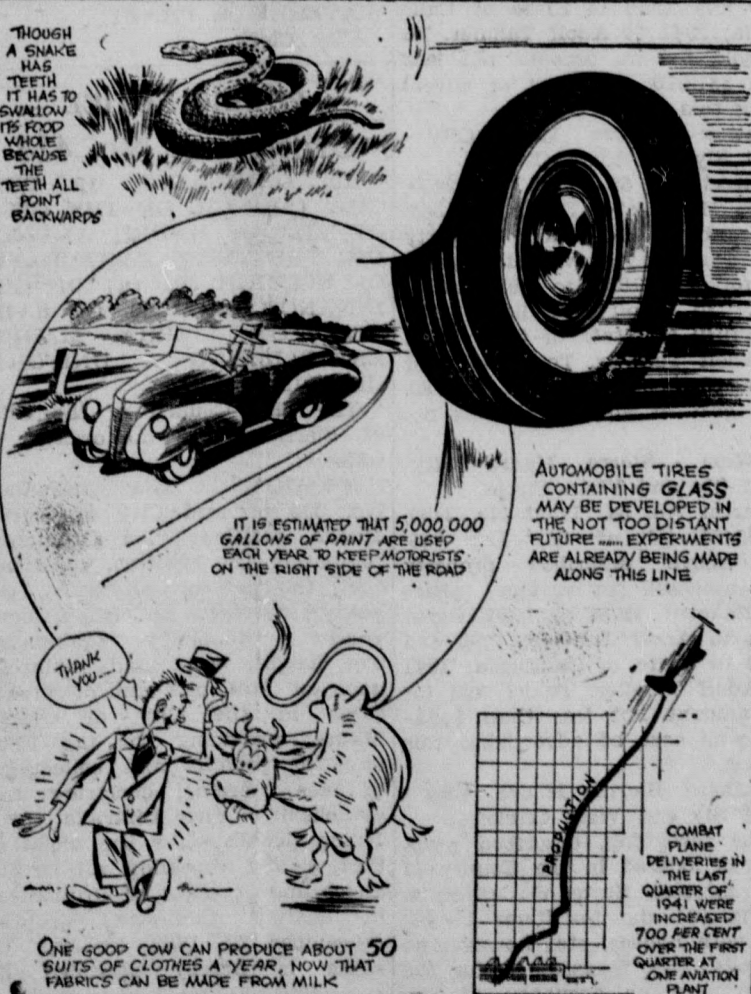

FIRE FLAMES

By One of the Boys

What was a mystery for several days seems to have been solved. A door that separates the firemen's meeting room from the sleeping quarters in the apartment above the engine house is made mostly of glass. It was necessary to "black out" all this glass with black paint. This gave it the appearance of wood. Evidently one of the firemen thought it was wood. At least the glass was found broken. Investigation proved that the window was broken on Monday night, just when "Shorty" Steinberger and his crew were on night duty. Questioning failed to get from them just how or by whom the window had been broken. Someone had thrown rocks from the street, according to them. However, third degree methods do sometimes work wonders and being very timid and weak, Harold Spears slipped and revealed the secret. The "fines can" received about two dollars which was paid or will be paid by Steinberger, Thomas, Spears and Hibbs. They don't like it much, but the fines will be paid. Friends and Citizens of Sierra Madre

It had been my desire to retire as a member of the School Board at the expiration of my term on June 1st.

However, during the past two weeks I have received many personal requests from friends and citizens, as well as a letter signed by the entire school faculty, urging me to reconsider my stand and to run for re-election.

Therefore, I have filed my declaration to be a candidate.

For nine years I have had the privilege of serving on the School Board, and if I am re-elected, I will continue to do everything in my power to improve the educational standards and services of our Sierra Madre School.

TO THE PEOPLE OF SIERRA MADRE

In a republic the only way a citizen can take part in government is by voting. Those who do not vote are just as responsible for the kind of government they get as those who do.

My sincere compliments to those who did vote, and sincere thanks to those who took the trouble to vote for me.

Now is the time to have confidence in and support your chosen representatives. I hereby pledge to them my full support.

Weber Will Direct Registration Of Men In 44-64 Group

Joseph Weber will serve as chairman for the occupational registration for all men here in the 44-64 age group and is asking men who assisted him during the last draft registration to again serve on the board.

Registration will begin on April 25 and continue through April 26 and 27. Sierra Madre men will sign up at the city hall between 7 a.m. and 9 p.m. during the three days.

All men in the prescribed age group will be required to register but will not be subject to call for military service. Following the registration they will be classified according to occupational skills. In this manner the federal government will be supplied with information regarding the available man power which could be called into war production.

Call the Sierra Madre News for your printing needs.

Tin Cans Loom Big In Salvage For Victory Campaign

California's Salvage for Victory campaign is now underway in the major cities of the state and will be in operation in the smallest hamlet and most remote regions in the near future, the state salvage committee announced this week.

Though all types of scrap are included in the salvage list, cities now engaged in a program are centering their initial campaign on tin cans. To arouse the maximum of public interest and participation, a definite time limit of from two to three weeks is being set for the first tin can drives. After collection, the cans are delivered to plants which specialize in reclaiming tin cans. Every ounce of tin and steel in a can is reclaimed and sent to armament factories.

Vacations Will Be Staggered During Summer Months

In cooperation with the government, the All-Year Club is launching a nation-wide campaign to alter the old habit of July and August vacations, and spread them out over more months of the year. The "staggering" of vacations was requested by the federal coordinator of transportation to lighten the peak load on railroads, buses and airlines this summer and permit a more efficient war-time use of men and equipment.

Don Thomas, managing-director of the All-Year Club, opened the campaign with a broadside of letters to manufacturing, municipal, state and other interests urging cooperation with the coordinator's request.

Sierra Madrean Is Prisoner Of War

Charles H. Bratton, 35, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bratton of 775 Skyland drive, is listed as a prisoner of war at Manila. Mr. Bratton visited his parents a year ago, breaking a five-year residence in the Philippines. Following his return to the Islands he was employed by the Naval Air-base Construction Company. His last letter to his parents was written December 15.

What They Say ---

Patsy O'Neil, San Francisco office secretary—"In 'Much Ado About Nothing,' Shakespeare cracked, 'Fashion doth wear out more apparel than the man.' The WPB must have been reading the old bard when they decided to save cloth by freezing styles."

John W. Bookhoff, Los Angeles citizen of German birth, in will filed shortly before his recent death—"All that I possess I leave to this Government for the privilege I received in being a free man in a free country."
